Walking in the landscapes of energy production

August 29 -
September 8

Summer school 2022
Laboratorio del Cammino
in Basilicata

Deadline for applications:
June 1, 2022

The Summer School has the objective to understand the extent to which the "oblique gaze", walking, seeing, listening and slowly entering places, are essential ways for reading and investigating the landscapes, especially those related to the energy production chain in different territorial contexts.

Participants will be asked to investigate with their senses and experience the changes taking place in the landscapes crossed, and elaborate spatial narratives and design trajectories oriented to guide local communities to face the challenges of the ecological transition, between energy production and landscape production.

To apply, please send an academic CV, a motivation letter and a portfolio via email to laboratoriodelcammino@gmail.com.

Participation fee: 175 euros
